

P 874 0005 US
Metallux GmbH

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a powder (1) comprising electrically conducting and magnetic particles (2). An electrically conducting, magnetic powder (1) can for example, be used to transfer an electrical signal and/or an electric voltage and/or an electric current between at least two electrical contacts in an electrical component, especially in a potentiometer.

(Fig. 1)

R:\users\imittendorf\email\Dietrich,F-1-translation